The State of New Jersey Programs: The state also offers two programs at the state level; the Homestead Rebate and the Property Tax Reimbursement (the Freeze). These programs are contingent upon the state budget; requirements vary each year. Again, these forms are available online at www.state.nj.us/treasury.

The Homestead Rebate is currently offered to seniors, and those whose income is below a set level.

The Property Tax Reimbursement Program (also known as the Freeze or the Blue Book) is for seniors, age 65 and over or disabled persons who have resided in New Jersey for the last 10 years, and in the same residence for the last three years. There are income requirements. The State also requires that you prove that you have paid your taxes for the prior year, or that you have the Collector complete a tax payment form. The form is mailed annually in February once you are in the program. New applications are available in by calling and asking the State to mail one directly to you.

The State of New Jersey offers two deductions at the local level; one for Seniors and Disabled citizens, and one for Veterans. Each deduction reduces taxes by $250.00 per year. There is also an exemption for disabled Veterans, where the disability was caused by their service in the Armed Forces.

Senior Citizens must be 65 years of age, own and reside in the property for which the deduction is being sought, and meet income requirements. Total income, less the greater of Social Security or Government pension income, must not exceed $10,000.00.

Applications are available in the Tax Assessors' office, The Tax Collector's office, and on-line at www.state.nj.us/treasury. Widow(er)s of eligible seniors may claim the deduction as well, if certain criteria are met. An annual update is required; forms will be mailed in January by the Tax Collector. Failure to return the form in a timely manner will result in the deduction being removed.

Veterans must be honorably discharged from the Armed Forces, own the property for which the deduction is being sought, and have been in active service in time of war. Applications are available in the Tax Assessors' office, The Tax Collector's office, and on-line at www.state.nj.us/treasury. Widow(er)s of eligible veterans may claim the deduction as well.

Disabled Veterans may request exemption from property tax payment. Applications are available in the Tax Assessors' office, The Tax Collector's office, and on-line at www.state.nj.us/treasury. Restrictions apply.
